

Crisis Response & Recovery

Dr. Sonayia N. Shephard, Safe Havens International

July 25th and 26th, 2013

During a crisis, students and staff can typically be expected to experience one or more of the following conditions: deterioration of motor skills, significant loss of cognitive reasoning ability and perceptual narrowing and, in extreme cases, emotional shutdown. Providing effective response and recovery procedures can counter these effects in a crisis. For over ten years, Safe Havens International has been committed to providing professional learning and powerful tools to assist schools.

This two day event will help prepare school and community personnel to deliver effective response and emotional recovery services in the event of a school, community, or regional level crisis. Using an interactive and engaging presentation style, Dr. Sony Shepherd will walk participants through a powerful exploration of strategies to help students, staff, parents, and emergency response officials cope with the emotional trauma and identify effective response strategies of major school crisis events involving death and serious injury. Dr. Shepherd will share specific strategies to help officials prepare for the reunification of students and staff with loved ones. The training will culminate with evidence-based resiliency briefing models for emotional recovery.

Dr. Sonayia N. Shephard has authored and co-authored sixteen books on school safety and emergency management. She has provided crises response and recovery support during many school crisis situations and major disasters around the world, including Hurricane Katrina, Tsunami in Indonesia, Haiti and many others. Dr. Shephard has appeared on Good Morning America, The Today Show, CNN, FOX, and 20/20. After graduating from high school at age 16, she earned degrees in Clinical Psychology, Political Science, Spanish and a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Emergency Response Policy.
